

Visit the Animals

Quicksilver Farm is a member of the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy, dedicated to keeping legacy animal breeding stock available for future generations. You will see animals rarely seen elsewhere.

Home to Lipizzans, these horses are famous for their performances of the Airs Above Ground at the Spanish Riding School in Vienna, as well as their heroic rescue by General Patton during World War II. There are 3000 of these horses in the world. Quicksilver Farm is home to a breeding program following strict guidelines for genetic preservation.

The Navajo Churro Sheep are a rare breed, descendents from sheep brought to the New World in the 1400s. These animals are famous for their wool, which has been made into rugs by the Navajos for generations.

Chickens of rare breeds live here, some of which lay light blue eggs! You'll want to see the beautiful colors and patterns of their feathers as well as their eggs.

The Miniature Silky Tennessee Fainting Goats will steal your heart. With their curiosity and antics, they keep you laughing.

Mediterranean Miniature Donkeys from the Sardinia and Sicily islands are sweet creatures, perfect for hugging and hand feeding. Give them a carrot and they'll love you forever!

Enjoy the Bounty

Depending on the time of year you visit Quicksilver Farm, you might find lilacs and roses, hundreds of daffodils, giant sunflowers, walnuts, pears, apricots, Mission figs, olives, peaches, lettuce, lavender or fresh basil and peppers.

No matter when you come, there is something delicious being grown in San Benito County, and it will be at the table for your meals.

In addition, Quicksilver Farm is noted for its fine culinary products such as jams, preserves and chutneys. You can look forward to enjoying wonderful food.
